A correspondent of the Cincinnati Com treial has been interviewing some of the leading iron men of Cleveland and Youngstown on the subject of business and currency, and here is his report of some of these interviews:

There were present on our excursion to the Mahoning Valley a number of the prominent manufacturers of Cleveland and Youngstown, and I took some pains to discover their opinions touching the financial condition of the country and the proposed resumption of specie payments in 1879.

Mr. A. B. Cornell, general manager of the Himrod Furnace Company, having control of three furnaces, is a Republican, and does not think that legislation has much to do with the situation of business matters. Does not think that the Republican party ought to back down so soon from the position they have taken, although he does not believe there will be resumption in 1879, as the thing is impossible.

These are only few of the many whose opinions I have carefully noted in conversations regarding the state of the manufacturing industries of the country. But the above is a fair sample of the whole. They do not want inflation or a valueless are recorded by this kine attempt to They do not want innation or a vanishing paper currency, but think the attempt to force resumption on the country will be ruinous to every interest except those of the men who deal in money alone, and whose interest may possibly be advanced by the depreciation of all other vanced by the depreciation of all other interests. These opinions are the more remarkable as nearly all the parties voted the Republican ticket at the State election, and show that while they are unanimously opposed to inflation, they all appear to have the same grudge against the attempt to resume specie payments in 1879.

I found the enterprise, in extent, far beyond anything I had anticipated. Some 16 or 18 months have elapsed since the inauguration of the enterprise, and under rather discouraging circumstances, owing to the scarcity of local supplies and the inconvenience of transportation, they 'have completed their undertaking with all the necessary appliances for economical production, appliances for economical production, and are now ready to manufacture iron and are now ready to manufacture iron on an extensive scale.

Two years ago Maj. John Frame, a veteran of the forest, was the sole inhabitant of the locality, and was strictly "monarch of all he surveyed." But in an evil hour he leased the mineral privileges, right of way, &c., to an enterprising combination of men from Ohio, who have built around him a town of 500 or 600 inhabitants. Step by step they have "moved upon him and his works," until his house and yard are all that are left him for the next ninety-nine years—at the end of which time the lease expires. We felt sorry for the old man, and would have cheerfully given him some consolation, had we been able do to so. MOODY AND SANKEY MERTING.

The Brooklyn Tabernacle was only half a lifed this morning at the Moody and a Sankey services. The falling off may be accounted for by the rain. After singing and the usual requests for prayer, Mr. Moody took for his text: "No good thing will the Lord withhold from them that walk uprightly." It always seemed to him, Moody, that the people came nearer to God when there were but few gathered together, and he believed they were near to Him this morning, and hoped they would walk uprightly, and as it was promised in the scripture nothing would be withheld from them by the Lord; Sankey then sang. Deacon Wm. Richardson, of Dr. Fulton's Church, prayed for its welfare and the restoration of peace, and he also asked the prayers of the congregation. Mr. Moody then suggested holding service on Sunday evening next for the non church going people. Rev. Henry. Ward Beecher, was present during the service.

After the singing of a hymn by Sankey, Mr. Moody preached an eloquent sermon on the text "Seek the Lord while He is near," from the 50th chapter of Isaiah. He rebuked the audience for want of earnestness, and said that he had grown tired of the half-heartedness which was exhibited. He gave many examples of what men could accomplish by being terribly 'in earnest. He closed his sermon with an account of the conversion of a young wife in New Castle, England, who at first said she did not want to be a Christian. She attended meeting nightly for a week and then said that she wanted to be saved, and she was saved. He read a letter that she wanted to be saved, and she was saved. He read a letter from her husband telling him that she was saved. He read a letter from her husband telling him that she had since died, and that she had de-voted the last days of her life to Jesus' works, and when I had read that letter said works, and when I had read that letter said Mr. Moody, I thanked God that I had gone to England. After singing and the closing prayer, the congregation was dismissed. The meetings are hereafter to be held in the Simpson M.E. Church adjoining the rink.

A Startling Murder.

Indianapolis, November 4. — The Kokomo Tribuns publishes the following in an extra this afternoon: One of the most horrible, cold blooded, startling murders that ever happened in the State was perpetrated last night near Greentown, Howard county. The Coroner was notified of the affair about 2 o'clock this morning, and is now present holding an inquest. The particulars of the affair are as yet very meagre, but as near as we can learn are as follows: David Robinson came to town yesterday and bought a new suit of clothes and a revolver. He went home, showed the purchases to his new suit of clothes and a revolver. He went home, showed the purchases to his wife and ate his supper. His brother and another man were at his house and Robinson seemed to want them to leave, and finally persuaded them to go to church. Robinson was in a good humor and appeared perfectly sane. Some time after the men had left, Robinson remarked to his wife that it would have been well if little Dan (his son) had died two weeks ago, and said he had attempted to kill the child. He then drew his revolver and fired at a second son who his wife. Terrified and crazed with fright Mrs, Robinson ran out of the house, and the oldest boy, eight years of age, started to follow. Robinson shot him in the face, but the ball glanced and failed to hart him badly. The father then struck him on the back of the head with a chair and made a bad wound, but the son succeeded in getting out of doors with his mother. Robinson then deliberately took a razor from a box near him and approached his little girl, his only daughter, who was lying in bed, and seizing her cut her throat from ear to ear. He followed this murder by taking the life of the son whom he had first shot in bed in the same manner. Robinson then jumped on his the oldest boy, eight years of age, started to follow. SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY.

SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY.

Theresa Swisher, a servant girl, died at a boarding house in this city several days ago quite auddenly. Her remains were buried, but her friends suspecting foul play had the body resurrected, and a Coroner's jury to-day made an examination of it and returned a verdict that Joseph P. Tussing, the girl's former lover, was the cause of her death, using some foul means to accomplish it. This suspicion is increased by the fact that Tusing has disappeared. It is thought by sing has disappeared. It is thought by many, by the threats made by Tussing that if the girl persisted in her refusal to marry him he would be the death of her, that that person was the cause of he

MINERS' STRIKE

Private telegrams received here this afternoon state that most of the miners in Hocking Valley have left their work and are on a strike. They demand an in-crease of ten cents per ton for mining. The indications now are that the demand will be refused by the operators.

A DISTRESSING OUTLOOK FOR THE WINTER.

TER.
The London Morning Post of October 23 The London Morning Post of October 23 has a Berlin dispatch saying that the depression of trade is felt so keenly by the industrial classes that the Government has been requested, as a means of preventing acute distress, to resort to the measure successfully adopted in the last two wars, namely, the establishment of loan banks. The Government has not as yet shown much inclination to accede to the request. Serious distress is anticipated among the industrial working classes during the coming winter, and apprehensious are also entertained of a crisis in financial circles.

The same paper also says that Russian The same paper also says that Russian correspondents to German newspapers give distressing accounts of unparalleled failures of this year's harvest. Never before, it is asserted, has a failure beer so general in Russia, both in geographical extent and in comprehensiveness with regard to the crops effected. The Russians are still familiar with the distress resulting from the failing crops from their experience of the Samana famine, that, however, was merely a local famine, but the present one is general. The entire cultivated zone is deprived of its expected harvest. From Oyel to the Crimea, and from Tambow to Podolsk, it is the same tale, and there is no prospect of help for them. All are groaning under the same load.
